ALWAYS INTERESTED IN THEATER BUSINESS

Future Star and Little Sweetheart Always Went To Every "Show"

"My husband said Frank was always in a deep study, and acted like he was tired," was a comment of Mrs.
E. A. Bacon, of Vine Street, Decatur, when shown a morning paper announcing the death of her brother-in-law, Frank Bacon, renowned actor, whose play, "Lightnin'" proved to be a world record breaker.

The words of his sister-in-law were spoken with emotion, for she had known the deceased star as a 12-year-old boy and had kept in touch with him throughout all the years of his struggles and his triumphs.

She said the last words of Mr.
Bacon as quoted in one of the morning dailies, "I am all right; but, oh, I am so tired," were characteristic of him as she had known him since a boy.

"I recall he told my daughter, Mrs.
William J. Kopp, whose husband led the band in the Twin Cities here some years ago and is now a musical director in Cincinnati, that the way he remembered me was that 'Aunt Jenny's hair was so black'."

"Frank was very light and his hair was almost white, as a boy. I know all he wanted to do was to hold little shows, and we used to go out in the back yard to witness them. He and his wife started out together. As children they went to every show that came to San Jose, Cal., where we were all living when they were little. It was hard for Frank to get hold of enough money to pay his and the way of his little sweetheart into the largest shows, but he always managed it some way."

Favored Late Edward A. Bacon.
the death of my husband, Edward A.
Bacon, seven years ago, when my son-in-law was in New York some years ago, he told me afterward that the resemblance was so great between my husband and his brother that Mr. Kopp said to himself, 'Why that's dad,' as he saw Frank coming toward him."

"I recall that Frank was a mighty good boy, and busy about something all the time. I am certainly sorry to hear of his death."

The members of Mrs. Bacon's family who are living are Mrs. Earnest Kopp (Mrs. William J. Kopp), of Cincinnati; Johnnie Bacon, switchman for the L. & N. railroad here, and Eddie A. Bacon, formerly a carman for the L. & N. shops.

Eddie Bacon said he was in to Mobile to see his uncle and cousin, Bessie Bacon, play in "Lightnin'", but saw only his cousin, as Frank Bacon was turned back at Nashville on account of some business in Chicago.

J. A. Buttrey, local merchant, who had seen Frank Bacon in New York, remarked on the resemblance of his nephew here bore to their distinguished uncle.

Was Newspaper Man at One Time.
His relatives here stated that at one time Mr. Bacon was a newspaper man, and exhibited the following of what he had to say about his sad venture in that direction: "I wanted to own a newspaper. I managed to get a little country one, a weekly. Do you think 'mother' (that was his wife, Jane Bacon, explained Mrs. Bacon) stayed at home and brooded, not a bit.
She used to come down with friends of ours and tell jokes and stories while the paper went to press."

"I had really to give the paper away. For the man who bought it from me gave me a note that was no good. He could not pay the note and I let him have the paper."

"My husband and Frank were both

POISON SLAYER GETS PRISON TERM

Mrs. Ruth McCaw, of Bristol, L. I., her stepson, Luke, who recovered from the rat poison she administered.

STATE AUTHORITIES OF LOUISIANA ABLE TO PRESERVE PEACE

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The state authorities of Louisiana appear at this time to be fully capable of handling any situation within their jurisdiction growing out of activities of secret organizations or other agencies, it was declared in a statement issued at the white house today after a conference on the subject, between President Harding, Attorney General Daugherty, Governor Parker and Attorney General Cocco, the latter two of Louisiana.

In view of the sufficiency of the state law, the white house statement said "there is nothing at this time for the federal government to do except to give assurance to the state authorities that wherever federal interests are involved, the federal authorities were ready to extend full co-operation."

Before going to the white house the Louisiana governor and the Attorney General had a long conference with William J. Burns, chief of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice. It was understood that they laid before Mr. Burns information concerning the reported influence exerted by the Klan among county and other officers in their state.

Widely published reports that the governor came to Washington to seek federal aid in controlling the situation in his own state were denied by Mr. Parker. It was emphasized that the whole purpose was to determine whether there could not be co-operation by the federal government in the interstate phase of the question.

Governor Parker, upon leaving the White House, also issued a statement, in which he said: "The responsible government of the state is determined that regardless of cost or consequence a most thorough investigation will be made of the outrages reported to have been made by the Ku Klux Klan in Louisiana. Certain terrorizing outrages have been committed. Certain horrifying crimes have been reported and it is vital that responsibility shall be fixed and offenders punished, not because of any organized associations, but in spite of this. The law of state and nation must be upheld under any and all circumstances."

GEORGIA 'SENATOR' PRESENT AT SHORT SESSION OF SENATE BUT KEEPS SILENCE

cratic Section, She Watches

Some of Best Informed Leaders Predict Failure For Plan

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Mrs. W.
H. Felton of Georgia, took the most direct method today to impress upon senate leaders that if she did not succeed in taking her seat as the first woman senator, it would not be through any fault of her's.

From a place in the rear of the senate on the Democratic side of the chamber, the 87 year old woman, peered out through her spectacles upon the opening formalities of the special session and then, without a mention of her name having gone to the senate record, saw an adjournment taken until tomorrow as a mark of respect for the late Senator Watson, to whose place she had been appointed by Governor Hardwick.

The senate was in session only 13 minutes, adjourning without giving an opportunity to Mrs. Felton or any other new senators to take the oath of office.

Mrs. Felton said she would continue her efforts to be seated for a day and it was indicated that the senate was prepared to act tomorrow. Some of the best informed leaders predicted she would not be successful.

ORGANIZATION PLANS DISCUSSED BY WETS IN NATIONAL PARLEY

(Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 20.—Steps to organize the wet forces in every state of the country to obtain modification of the Volstead act, were discussed at a two-day meeting of the National Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment, which began here today.

Predictions were made by delegates that the liquor question probably would be the principal issue of the 1924 presidential election as a result of claims being made that the wets won a sweeping victory in the recent general election.

Denial that a third major political party, favoring amendment of the Volstead law was planned, was made by delegates who said that wet candidates of either the Republican or Democratic parties would be supported and that where candidates of both major parties were found not suitable an independent nominee would be supported by the association.

Auto Wrecked In Business District

Daylight this morning revealed a strange spectacle—not so strange either in this day of fast automobile driving—a large Dodge car lying helpless near the Lovin wholesale house on Second Avenue.

J. F. Lovin said from the looks of the car it had struck an immovable object. He said when he passed his store last night after church time the street was clear, and expressed the opinion that the car was wrecked some time in the night hours. The fallen car had lost a wheel, and was otherwise badly broken up. It had evidently been run as a taxi. Police today had not identified the owner.

Hunchback Boy Accused of Murdering Stepfather and Mother

David Aho, twenty-one, a cripple since childhood, when, it is said, his mother threw him to the floor in a fit of anger, breaking his back, is held prisoner on the charge of murdering his stepfather and his mother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wirtenen, of Virginia, Minn. There are six Wirtenen children, and Aho brooded over the second marriage of his mother. The boy was wounded in the knee before he was captured.

Dr. James A. Duncan's First Sermon In New Charge Is Heard by Big Crowd

Dr. James A. Duncan's sermon of yesterday morning, when he faced for the first time during this conference year his many friends and neighbors of a few years ago, was one calculated to start something in a business way at the First Methodist Church of Decatur, where the distinguished minister is the pastor.

The preacher's text was God's word to Moses: "Speak unto the children of Israel that they go forward."

Dr. Duncan showed his appreciation of the necessity of the church being conservative, but he made it plain that conservatism did not mean doing nothing, and thinking nothing of a constructive nature. He did not answer his question: "Is the church as progressive as other business organizations?" but the speaker left a strong presumption of doubt as to his or any one else's ability to answer the question in the affirmative.
He intimated that children would gauge the value placed on things by the amount of money spent on them, and said that a child who saw a penny going for Sunday school to a dime for pleasure, was apt to think fun was more important than a knowledge of God.

The Bible pronouncement that the children "of light" were not as wise in their sphere as the worldly minded were in their affairs, was referred to, and in close connection Dr. Duncan said: "Good is often the enemy of best."

The preliminary services were of an impressive character, especially the song service as led by the choir, with Miss Lucile Baily as organist.

In opening Dr. Duncan told his congregation in simple but convincing words how glad he was to "sus-tain the relation of pastor" to his congregation of a few years ago, once again, and intimated that good self-behavior on the part of all should be the rule for the present conference year. He said he guessed if he was being introduced that his introducer would say that he needed no introduction, as he was known to the people present. The minister asked "an earnest work of intercession" by his congregation "for my own personal guidance," as he expressed his desire for the prayers of his people.

Before announcing his text the minister read of the murmurings of the Israelites against Moses, and how in biting sarcasm they asked their leader if there were no graves in Egypt to lay them in, and continuing that they had better have served Pharaoh than "to die in this wilderness." The speaker spoke of fear, to condemn it. He said there was no such thing as new truth, but there were new visions of it. He denounced the little-mindedness of those who because they knew a certain piece of truth was true, forgot that truth was as big as God Himself. He contrasted how incomparable His disciples were to Christ Himself ad referred to condemn it, to the
"in the early church 'some were of Paul, some of Apollus, and some of Cephus.' 'John Wesley is true; John Calvin was true; but Christ is so much bigger than either.'"

"Do you know the business world is putting religion into business," said Dr. Duncan enthusiastically.

"Business has become a profession, and business men are reducing it to a system."

It was then explained how careful men were in business, and how aggressive they were, and then the question was asked as to the business qualities of the followers of Christ. The speaker said faith was what enabled us to discard yesterday and seize the opportunities of the present and future.

Life was described as a growth and an activity.

"It is an everlasting going forward," declared the preacher with great forcefulness. It was explained at length that physical growth had its limitations, but that heart culture and spiritual life would never cease throughout a never-ending eternity.

Those who made addresses were as follows: Dr. B. F. Austin, Father Sheridan, Rev. L. P. Goodwin, Mayor W.
R. Britain, Tennis Tidwell, L. P.
Troup, W. W. Callahan, Mrs. L. A.
Neill, W. W. Fussell, Dr. F. Chenault, E. C. Payne, Dr. Roan, Dr. J. W.
Crow and Dr. F. P. Pettey.

Dr. F. P. Pettey dismissed the audience, and as these friends filed out

GROWTH OF BUREAU PLEASES MEMBERS; OFFICERS FOR YEAR NAMED AT MEETING

Statements given by Directors of Work In Each of Districts

PRESIDENT CAIN HAD LABORED UNCEASINGLY

Excellent Record Made During Year by Morgan County Organization

A meeting of far-reaching importance affecting the Morgan County Farm Bureau members was held Saturday at Hartselle, at which time the entire activities of the organization for the year were reviewed, a statement being given by each director as to the business of his respective predict.

A large number of members were present from over the county, and the meeting was enthusiastic from the start.

When the order of business was taken up, the election of officers for the ensuing year was made, resulting in the re-election of all the officers who served the present year, they being: James F. Cain, president; P. P.
Gilechrist, of Albany, first vice-president; A. H. Masterson, second vice-president; H. L. Burleson, secretary-treasurer. The financial report showed that the organization had had a very prosperous year in every department of its activity.

The financial report of the treasurer was read and approved. James F. Cain, the president, reviewed the work of his office, bringing to the attention of the members the many obstacles met and surmounted during the present year, making this county one of the units of effective operation of the Alabama Cotton Pool Association. Mr. Cain was voted a vote of thanks for his untiring activity in the interests of the county organization, and, although in poor health, he kept industriously at the work, and much credit for the present efficiency of the county organization is due to him.

The board of directors will be elected at a future date. One third of them being elected yearly, the remaining two-thirds holding over for another year. The board of directors are elected by the members in their respective precincts.

It was generally conceded, following the splendid results which came from the co-operation of cotton growers this season, that the real obstacle to the better price for cotton had been met and solved.

LOCAL SINGER IS HEARD AT ATHENS

Margaret Clarkson, local vocalist, charmed a large audience of music lovers in Athens Friday night when she appeared under the auspices of one of the women's societies of the First Presbyterian Church of that city.

The program was rendered in the auditorium of the First Presbyterian Church, Mrs. A. J. Harris playing the accompaniments.

Those who heard Miss Clarkson declared she never acquitted herself more creditably than she did Friday evening, being called back on repeated encores.

of the building, acutely again was felt the great loss which had been sustained to every individual in attendance by his passing, and not only so, but the entire citizenship of the Twin Cities felt keenly the same distinct loss.

EXTRA SESSION TO CONSIDER SUBSIDY BILL FOR SHIPS IS CALLED TOGETHER

Four Sessions of Present Congress Are Insured By The Call

MRS. FELTON HAS THE
CENTER OF SPOTLIGHT

Neither Branch Will Begin Active Work Before Tuesday Morning

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Congress convened at noon today for the special session of two weeks, called by President Harding for consideration of the administration ship subsidy bill, upon which he is expected to address a joint session tomorrow.

The senate was in session 13 minutes. In the house the business of getting underway after the recess took considerably more time, but the leaders deferred any actual consideration of legislation until after the President's address tomorrow. There was the usual first day harvest of new bills and resolutions, all of which promptly went to committee and the opening session was attended also by the usual noisy outburst of welcome by the galleries to new and returning members.

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—With the convening of the Sixty-seventh Congress, in special session at noon today, one precedent, at least, in American history, is broken, while it remained to be determined whether the day would see another smashed.

The extra session called by President Harding to consider the administration's ship subsidy bill, with the regular session to follow immediately after, insures a record total of four sessions for this congress, including the special session called in April, 1921, no congress ever before having had more than three, and it may have the further distinction of including the first woman member to be seated in the United States Senate.

With neither house planning to get down to work until after the President's joint session address tomorrow, interest in the day's procedure was chiefly claimed by the problem presented in the efforts of Mrs. W.
H. Felton, of Georgia, the first woman Senator to obtain a seat in the Senate for a day.

The way appeared to be cleared for this up to the point of securing unanimous consent to it. Vice-President Coolidge and Senate leaders as well, it was understood, are disposed to grant Mrs. Felton the distinction by this procedure. At the same time, however, they were said to agree that since Senator-elect George's election on November 7 she had no legal right to be seated and that a single objection probably would bar her. Mr.
George said he would not claim his seat until tomorrow in order to give Mrs. Felton an opportunity to take the oath of office.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FOR. S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS

THE PEOPLE SHOULD AID THE DOCTORS IN THE PREVENTION OF DISEASE.

Local physicians returning from the annual convention of the Southern Medical society which has just closed a four days session in Chattanooga take a very optimistic view as to the progress being made against disease in the Southern states. One of the largest divisions of the convention was devoted to the discussion of ways and means for the eradication of malaria. The fact that the doctors have centered upon malaria with the aim of destroying the disease is a most hopeful one. Unless malaria is defeated, it may defeat the fairest dreams of the Southland. It has long been an accepted truism that no considerable energy and enthusiasm will ever be developed in those sections where chills, fever and day fever get in its deadly work. The South can never come into its own so long as the ambition is taken out of her people by the deadly malaria germs. A number of remedies were recommended for the prevention of infection from malaria. It was urged that a campaign of education be carried out whereby the people generally would be informed as to the deadliness of malaria and also taught ways and means for preventing the disease. The success of the movement against malaria depends on the destruction of the malaria germ breeders—a certain kind of mosquito—well known to the medical profession. The doctors advocate a thorough drainage system for the swamp lands of the south—as it is in the warm waters of our swamps the malaria germs are found. The introduction of a certain kind of minnow—a small fish that feeds on and destroys the "wiggles" that if allowed to live finally develop into malaria producing mosquitoes—was advocated at the convention. The importance of families screening against mosquitoes was stressed. Considerable attention was given to the ravages of pallogra, and the hook worm. And soil pollution was shown to be the cause of a great deal of disease and death. But malaria according to returning physicians, received the major portion of attention in the papers read and the discussions engaged in at the Chattanooga meeting. It is one of the most hopeful signs of our times that prevention of disease is receiving such large attention. "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." It is worth several pounds of cure. The truth of these statements has been long accepted, but the people generally and the medical profession in particular has been too slow in putting the truth into practice, so to speak. We have not put the truth to the test, with sufficient faith and enthusiasm, but it is never too late to do good. Let the people all over the south follow in the lead of the medical profession in its efforts to prevent malaria and many other diseases from blighting the future of a great people.

THE RED CROSS DRIVE.

Many do not appreciate the many acts of charity which the Red Cross through its ministering agencies accomplish. To those who have never been "down and out," it is almost impossible to grasp the situation with which the Red Cross has to do, as it gives of timely assistance in such a way that these may be put on their feet again and go on. When disaster comes, it is there that the Red Cross through its many agencies for good appears on the scene, and does much to alleviate the distress incident thereto. It is no respecter of persons, but wherever a helping hand must be stretched across the chasm of despair, there you will find the willing hand of this organization lengthened out the entire way. It reaches down and lifts up, and points the way to a safe footing. It scatters hope and help, and thereby places the star of hope where the helpless may see it, and take courage to again pursue along the ever de-vicious way of life. If it were not for such helping agencies, ministered in just such a way as this great organization functions, there would be a great deal more sorrow in this world, where there is always a generous portion. Help the Red Cross, and thereby join an organization which by intelligent effort, trained in just such work, know exactly how to make the funds reach those who are in the greatest need.

To fail to heed to their appeal, is but to fail to join hands with numerous other thousands, who by the payment of $1 help create a fund with which to do needed help, and thereby take some out of the slough of despond, and create again the incentive to action.

SOMETHING ABOUT THE MARVELOUS PROGRESS OF AVIATION.

The speed of a cannon ball has been out done by the latest airplane according to reports from the recent air races at Detroit. That is, the winning machine went faster than did cannon balls at the time of the out break of the American civil war. Lieut. MacReady is the man who piloted the fast airship and he made at the average speed of 206 miles an hour.

This record places America in the lead, as for speed in the air and this country also claims the endurance record where one of our air men stayed aloft for thirty-five hours. And as for altitude our men have ascended into the blue 40,800 feet, a distance close to eight miles, counting 5,280 feet to the mile. When some body goes about four times as high he will be beyond the kind of air we breathe, and hence will need to carry a ration of air. And when our air men start on their long long journey to Mars, they will have to carry breathing air, just as travelers in a desert carry supplies of water. It is said the course flown at Detroit was triangular in shape and that when the flyers turned the corners they had to bring their machines parallel to the earth instead of vertical to it as when starting from the ground—on the same principle as a motorcycle is parallel to the floor of the round house it races in at county fairs, and vertical to the up right walls of the round-house. When the turns were made a slowing down process was necessary, cutting the average speed considerably. Flying straight away one of our air men is said to have gone at the rate of 240 miles an hour. Such a speed, conceivably would eventually carry a flyer to Mars, or even to the uttermost parts of the universe. People laugh at the thought of the full exploration of the universe. They also laughed at the claim of Columbus that he could sail around the earth to far off India.

It is predicted that in five years air men will be going 300 miles an hour which will be some going! Lieutenant Maughan, who recently made a great air travel record says of one of his experiences: "I got lost four times in the haze. I was stunned more or less at each of the fifteen turns. I lost confidence which a good aviator ought not to, and then became unconscious."

Mr. Maughan then explains that when his machine shot away on a straight path that he came to his right mind. He said his feet would go to sleep during the flights, and mentions many other inconveniences. It is said that when Maughan alighted from one of his most wonderful flights that the Secretary of the Navy wept over him and that General Patrick was so pleased that he patted the great flyer on the head instead of shaking hands with him. The fast work of such men as Maughan, contrasts oddly with the best time the Wright Brothers could make in their first successful flight in a heavier than air flyer. Those fathers of flying went only 30 to 35 miles an hour on December 17, 1903—about like a slow moving Automobile runs today.

WHAT WILL THE BEST CONSCIENCES SAY AND DO ABOUT APPEAL.

The timely communication of Mrs. E. C. Payne in Saturday's Daily for immediate relief of the present situation as regards the needy in the Twin Cities, should have been carefully read and diligently considered by every reader. Mrs. Payne's case for the poor was fairly and intelligently stated. She asks: "Will you help the needy?" "Certainly, of course"—was no doubt the instant response of all who read the communication through.

But there may have been some who only glanced at the heading and then passed on. Such a course would have been perfectly all right if it were true that we are living in a world of the "survival of the fittest" and "every body for selfness"; but we do not happen to be living in a world of that kind.

The dictates of the "best minds" and particularly of the "best consciences" will absolutely favor according to the love demands made in Mrs. Payne's appeal. "The poor we have with us always." What are we going to do about it. Will we not feed the hungry? We will. We will do things similar to what the Woman's Benevolent Society has been doing for the last half a generation or more. But what has that band of Christian women done you ask? A few lines from Mrs. Payne's appeal will tell you:

"The Ladies' Benevolent Society of Albany-Decatur has cared for the poor of Albany and Decatur since boom days. The principal means of support being dues of members at 10 cents per month—$1.20 per year. Month after month, and year after year, committees from the organization have served these towns in which they live. The poor have been cared for, the sick ministered to, clothing provided for those who needed it, boys placed in the Industrial School, and girls in the Vocational School, or the State Training School. The project of a hospital was planned originally to care for the poor of the Twin Cities, and finally the dream became a reality and hundreds of charity cases have been relieved during the past six years."

After having this knowledge of the past work of the Benevolent Society Mrs. Payne's question is now pertinent, as found further down in her article: "What are the good people of Albany-Decatur going to do about it?" The immediate course to pursue is to enroll yourself as a regular member of the Society, ten cents a month, or $1.12 a year. Call up the Benevolent Hospital, one of the standing monuments of the faith purpose and good works, of the Benevolent Society, and enroll as a member. Or if you cannot get that number at once, call Albany No. 178 or any one of the good women of the Benevolent Society, and enroll your self as a volunteer in their army devoted to the relief of the needy right in our midst. And it will not be well to delay for Thanksgiving day is at hand, and what righteous man or woman can eat thankfully that day who before it came turned deaf ear to the appeals of those who need help.

THE MENACE OF FOREST FIRES.

W. B. Greeley, United States Forester, has sent broadcast over the nation an appeal, issued to the superintendents of education, to help enlist the twenty-two million school children in the country, to help fight a national foe, which yearly ravages the forests of our country. It is pointed out that forest fires are common in every section of the country, especially in the fall. This being an especially dry year, the damage has been increasingly great. The appeal in part says: "We give too little heed to fires. They do a vast amount of harm. Our boys and girls should be taught this. They must be made to realize that good citizens are careful not to cause fires."

"The woods are royal playgrounds, for young and old. And they are never more so than in the fall. After school, and on holidays, our young people will have glorious times nutting, tramping, some of them hunting in the woods, and frolicing in the fallen leaves."

"The leaves are dry. Frost and wind, combined with the effects of the sun rays, combine to cover the ground with potential tinder. It does not take long after a rain for the forest floor to become inflammable again." "I wish I might tell every boy and girl in the United States of the fires that I have seen, and the terrible results of forest fires when they become big, and the harm that even small fires do. I wish I might ask each one of them to promise me his or her help in keeping the forests green."

In our own county the present fall, there has been more fires than common. This appeal should be read by every boy and girl, and their best efforts should be enlisted in helping to carry out the instructions of this national forest fire chief.

THE BUSY SPIDER A TIRELESS SPINNER.

Did you ever observe the product of the spider at an early hour some morning when the sun was peeping over the eastern hiltops, revealing to the naked eye the many thousands of finely spun webs? Have you ever thought of the energy required to weave the countless thousands of silken threads into the many differently constructed homes of this busy insect? How patiently the spider works. By some rude fate the work of a day might be in a moment destroyed, only to be begun again, and the same energy exerted as in the preparation of the first one. What a lesson we might gather from the industrial habits of this busy worker, and how much we might profit by it, if we would include in our program of life work, the same determination to overcome the obstacles, and the same patience in meeting its hindrances, as our plans fail from time to time, and the castle which we build, many of them in reality, and countless more as "castles in the air," are dashed rudely apart, and we find our ideal shattered and lying in fragments at our feet.

Instead of bemoaning the fate which doth beset us, it is far better to include in our program, some of the object lessons of the lowly spider, who in fat years as well as lean, spins her castles and suspend them in mid air, with the same spirit of untiring activity.

THANKSGIVING DAY; ITS LESSON.

Thanksgiving day is soon to come, and no doubt will be very generally observed. Those with plenty, tempered by the fact that things have been well with them, will no doubt give some of their generous portion to others less fortunate, who know not of these happy occasions unless some others plan that they shall enjoy them. This would be a dreary work for many of this class were it not for the fact that, on these annual occasions while the good things are piled high in the pantries of those who are able to afford them, the spirit of helpfulness goes out, and reaches those who have them not, neither the chance of them unless some kind disposed person meets the emergency.

The world is not so bad after all. Deep down in the hearts of those one would least expect, there is the spark of sympathy and generosity still aglow, and it burns with increasing radiance when just such opportunities present. The reward is sure. "As often as ye have done it unto the least of one these my brethren, ye have done it unto Me."

Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter—the person last owning a product, is the one who has to "produce."

New York Letter

by Lucy Joanne Price

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Hattie, one of our most popular elephants at the Central Park Zoo, is having daily bulletins issued about her health. She was taken seriously ill a few days ago and the city is worried. She seems to be improving steadily, and the interest of a considerable part of our population is centered even more than upon her illness, on the fact that she is being given two quarts of whiskey a day. She seems quite satisfied with the regime.

Once again Romance falls before Routine! The Mexican Federation of Labor has notified labor leaders of this city of the formation in the Latin republic of "bullfighters' union." It would be thrilling if picadores, banderilleros and matadores de toros would strike just when things got to a climax in the bull ring.

Talk about the "wide open spaces where men are men," we are getting just too picturesquely Western for words here in this effete Eastern metropolis. First there came the cowboys and cowgirls and New York flocked to the rodeo as it never has flocked to opera, and then yesterday we had our first barbecue. If we live long enough we'll get right primitive! It was held just half a block from the Great White Way, in the excavation for the Commonwealth Hotel, and was prepared by Col. David T. Abercrombie, the barbecue expert of them all. Real campfires were built in the rock-carved space, and pigs and sheep were roasted there whole, after the regular manner of barbecues, along with tubs of clam chowder for anyone who hadn't been educated up to a sturdy appetite. Theatrical Broadway accepted its invitations with enthusiasm, and Mary Carr, Sessue Hayakawa, Eddie Polo and scores of others enjoyed roast pig to the utmost. Dr. Frank Crane was there to lend the literary atmosphere. It was a great occasion.

This generation has its Hamlet, after all. For a good many years they have been telling us that the real tragedians were a group belonging essentially and eternally to the past, that never again would there be an Edwin Booth or an Alexander Salvini. And now comes John Barrymore! It may be there have been Hamlets greater than his, but it is not in the arrogance of those who knew only the actors of this generation that I say I doubt it. And I doubt if future generations will produce anything to exceed this production of "Hamlet" which Arthur Hopkins has just achieved with Barrymore and a splendid supporting cast. I never realized how human and understandable Hamlet could be—undoubtedly was. For the first time, the Prince of Denmark has been made a reality to me and I believe to thousands of others. The famous "To be or not to be," Barrymore spoke, not as a dramatic soliloquy, but as a man thinking aloud his quandary. If there had been more Barrymores, there would have been more "Shakespearean public," I am certain.

John Thamer is 81 years old, an age when most men believe they have earned rest and relaxation from the strenuous duties of life and are not expected to rise to heroic heights. But there is no age limit on heroism, it seems. The other night when the lumber plant which he guards as night watchman caught fire, and it was a choice between safety and the call of the duty of his job, it never occurred to him to wait and make a decision. Armed with a slender garden hose, the watchman made his way into a blazing two-story building and by his work—and the risk of his life—checked the flames from spreading to thousands of feet of lumber and beyond. Then he groped his way through a mass of flames to the office telephone and called the fire department, and returned to the task of keeping things in hand until they should arrive. Such things are worth remembering, if only for the sake of our souls.

We don't grow up as much as we pretend that we do—fortunately. The other night, after the shops were closed, I saw a score of people crowding the lighted corner window of a Fifth Avenue department store. Men and women seemed held by some exhibit of tremendous importance. What could it be, I wondered. Surely no display of gowns or even jewels, could interest people so intently. I joined the crowd and peered between their heads. A little replica of the legendary workshop of Santa Claus, with little toy men working away and Santa supervising! That was all and that spellbound crowd was made up of eighteen men and women and one child!

born in Frankfort, Ky.," said Mrs.
Bacon, "and they both went west with their parents. I was born in Madisonville, Ky., went west some years after the Bacons.

"My husband after our removal here during the boom days, returned to California on business and used to see Frank, after he had grown to manhood. He told me often that Frank was so preoccupied and so busy that he did not make good company and seemed in a deep study all the time."

J. H. Hockensmith, of South Albany, knew Frank Bacon well, when both were boys together in Frankfort, Ky.
Mr. Hockensmith was intimately associated with Harry Bacon, an older brother of the great actor, and worked with this brother at the carpenter's trade for years. Mr. Hockensmith now has some tools bought from Harry Bacon, that bear his name.

The father of Frank Bacon was also known to Mr. Hockensmith as he was also to W. R. Shelton, when all three men lived in Frankfort.

Mr. Shelton said he recalled the elder Bacon as a kindly agreeable man. He said he remembered Harry Bacon and went to school with him, but that he had no recollection of the famous actor now dead.

Court Again Hard
At Work Monday

Circuit court convened today after a recess Saturday. A great volume of business was transacted the four days of last week, following two days of non-jury docket hearings. In two days, 25 cases were disposed of. The present week will be an equally strenuous one, one murder case being set for Thursday and another one will be set today for hearing some time this week. The grand jury assembled at 10 o'clock today, and will continue their hearings probably the entire week. The court house was crowded at an early hour today, a special venire being present, augmented by a large number of witnesses for both the court hearings and grand jury service.

Skin Ablaze
with Eczema Constant Itching Almost Unbearable!

We know there is one thing that stops eczema, and that is more red-blood-cells!
S. S. S. builds them by the millions! You can increase your red-blood-cells to the point where it is practically impossible for eczema to exist. We know that as blood-cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! We also know that night follows day. Both are facts! But have you, eczema sufferers, ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought about it! Skin eruptions, eczema with all its fiery, skin-digging torture and its soul-tearing, unrelenting itching, pimples, blackheads and boils, they all pack up and go, when the tide of blood-cells begins to roll in! Blood-cells are the fighting-giants of nature! S. S. S. builds them by the millions! It has been doing it since 1826!

S. S. S. is one of the greatest blood-cell builders, blood-cleansers and body builders known to us mortals! When you put these facts together, then to continue to have eczema and skin eruptions looks more like a sin than a disease. Mrs.
Arthur N. Smith, Pearl St., Newark, Ohio, writes:

"My little girl had a very bad case of eczema. She began taking S. S. S. and it went away. I thank you very much. I tell my friends what a good medicine it is. I cannot talk too much about it for I know it is O. K."

Here is your opportunity. S. S. S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients.
Because S. S. S. does build red-blood-cells, it cures rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are rundown. S. S. S. is sold at all drug stores, in two sizes. The larger size bottle is the more economical.

SOMERSET JURORS
PROBING MYSTERY

SOMERVILLE, N. J., Nov. 20.—

The Somerset County grand jury, with the aid of Special State Prosecutor Wilbur A. Mott, today began an investigation of the murder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills, now a mystery of nine weeks' duration.

Somerville, a town of only 4,000 persons, is not enthusiastic about its position in the limelight. Its citizens believe that Middlesex County should foot the bill because it was a Middlesex County citizens who were murdered.

NEAR EAST PEACE
PARLEY UNDERWAY

(Associated Press.)

LAUSANNE, Nov. 20.—The Near East peace conference here was formally opened at 3:45 o'clock this afternoon. President Haab, of Switzerland, the presiding officers of the opening session, entered the hall at that hour and read his welcoming address to which Lord Curzon, the British foreign secretary, replied.

Many complex questions will come up, among them the negotiations of a final treaty of peace between Turkey and Greece. The freedom of the straits and fixing of the future status of Turkey are to be discussed over the conference table.

It was intimated that the United States representatives would raise their voices at the meeting whenever it was in the interest of the United States and Americans to do so.

New Bonus Measure
Introduced Today

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A soldier bonus to be paid in cash from taxation of 2.75 beer and cider was proposed in a bill reintroduced in the house today by Representative Hall, Republican, of Maryland. The measure modifies one introduced by Mr.
Hall during the last session which provided for 4 per cent beer and 12 per cent wine.

The new bill provides settlements of a bonus in three equal cash payments on July 1, 1923, 1924 and 1925.
Mr. Hall declared the beer and cider tax would take care of the outlay which he estimated at $1,500,000,000.

Negro Killed And Woman Is Held

Lewis Baily, negro, is dead as the result of a shot alleged to have been fired by Pearl Gray, negro, according to officials of the Albany night police force who made the arrest of the woman Sunday night at 8:30, a few minutes after shots were heard in the negro quarters on Railroad Street. Pearl Gray admitted shooting Baily, according to officers, and said the dead man was threatening her life, when she drew a revolver and fired. The woman has been lodged in the Morgan County jail to await action by the grand jury.

Supreme Court
Sets Ruling Aside

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The supreme court today ordered set aside the injunction granted the Cumberland Telephone and Telegraph company by Judge Foster at New Orleans, restraining the Louisiana Public Service Commission and officers of that state from putting into effect a schedule reducing its rate pending final decision as to whether the new rates are confiscatory.

The court refused to stay the new rates, pending appeal, but referred that motion for decision to the United States district court of three judges which heard the case.

Childers and eight other unnamed men had been executed. Shortly afterwards, however, it received another ing that the rumor regarding Childers had been officially denied.

EXCEPTIONALLY STRONG
CAST IN "BITS OF LIFE"

DELITE TUESDAY
An exceptional cast will be seen in Marshall Neilan's latest cinema production, "Bits of Life," which will appear at the Delite Theatre on Tuesday.

Among the screen favorites who play prominent roles are frecklefaced Wesley Barry, Lon Chaney, the remarkable character actor; Noah Beery, John Bowers, Harriett Hammond, Teddy Sampson, Anna May Wong.

And still others, who rank as stellar lights of New York's theatrical and motion picture world, are Fred Burton, Rockcliffe Fellowes and James Bradbury, Jr.

Part of the production was filmed in New York and part in California, Mr. Neilan being thus able to pick the best talent available in both East and West.

The production of "Bits of Life" is unique in that it presents the combined efforts of our famous writers.

The stories which form the basis for photoplay are Thomas McMurrow's "The Bad Samaritan," published by the Popular Magazine; Walter Trumbull's "The Man Who Heard Everything," a Smart Set story; Hugh Wil-ley's "Hop," which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, and Marshall Neilan's original story, "The Strange Adventure."

Satire, comedy-drama, melodrama and farce figure in the photoplay, with one theme running through each.

The production was personally directed by Marshall Neilan and is said to represent the most ambitious as well as novel effort that he has yet made.

"Bits of Life" is released by Associated First National Pictures, Inc.

NEWBERRY QUILTS
POST IN SENATE

(Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—

Truman H. Newberry, of Michigan, whose right to a place in the senate has been a subject of long and bitter controversy, has submitted his resignation with a request that it become effective immediately.

In a letter to Governor Groesbeck made public here last night, Mr. Newberry said he had been impelled to retire voluntarily because of the defeat of his Republican colleague, Senator Townsend, in the election of November 7. The turn of events, he said, would make it "futile for him to continue his public service, since he continually would be "hampered by partisan political persecution."

C. M. Dinsmore Is Struck On Face

C. M. Dinsmore, of Falkville, is in the city today. Mr. Dinsmore is suffering from a wound on the face, alleged to have been inflicted by Ed Terry, a tenant on the Dinsmore farm, at an early hour Friday evening. The alleged assault was made in the barn left while Mr. Dinsmore was feeding his stock. But for the fact that the intended blow was warded off, the weapon of attack striking a hay carrier, the results would have been more serious. Following the attack, Terry was placed in the county jail, deputies from here being called to the scene of the trouble.

Tennessee Valley
Hit By Cold Wave

Following one of the prettiest days of this autumnal season Sunday, when the thermometer reached summer heat, old Boreas came down from for complaining, however, for if ever this section had been favored with the finest quality of weather imaginable, that time is now. Tonight promises both ice and frost, and tender vegetation not protected will meet a sad fate.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, Since the last meeting of the Directors of the Morgan County National Bank, our friend, associate and fellow Director, Robert H. Wolcott, has answered the final "Roll Call" and,

Whereas, The intimate relation held during a long business life with the Board and his loyalty to this Bank made it fitting that we record our appreciation; therefore

Resolved, That the wisdom, care and ability which he used in the interest of our Stockholders will be held in grateful remembrance.

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a man from the social, business and political life of this Community, in which he has taken a leading position for the last twenty years leaves a vacancy, difficult to fill, and which will prove a grievous loss to his friends and to this City.

Resolved, That as a mark of our deep sympathy with the friends of the deceased, and his bereaved family, and our own sorrow and regret, that a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this Board and copies sent to his widow and the press.

Hartselle News

W. C. Johnson, who was county agent for this county for more than two years, was among his many friends here Saturday. Mr. Johnson is now holding a similar position, with headquarters at Lineville, Ala. He reports agricultural matters in fine shape there. He was here to see friends and look after some business matters. He left Sunday for home.

Rev. H. G. Williams occupied the pulpit at the Baptist Church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock hour. Rev. Williams was pastor of this church four years ago, and made a most popular pastor. He is now a student at the Baptist Theological Seminary at Louisville, Ky., and has two churches near Louisville which he is pastoring. He left Sunday afternoon to again take up his studies. He was here in attendance upon the Baptist state convention which met at Cullman last week.

Walter Speegle, of Birmingham, was among friends here Sunday. Mr. Speegle is R. F. D. carrier near Birmingham. For many years he was in a similar capacity here.

Rev. Robert Harrell filled his regular appointment at the First Christian Church at the morning and evening service.

Two large audiences greeted the new pastor of the First Methodist Church at the morning and evening services. There being no service at the Baptist Church, the congregation worshipped with the Methodists. Rev. Anderson fully met the expectations of his congregation, preaching two uplifting sermons, drawing some very valuable deductions from the Scripture selected as a base for his remarks. Delighted was the verdict of all who heard him. He impressed himself upon the large congregations.

which heard him, as being a man of deep spirituality, and if his sermons Sunday were a sample of what is held in store for the year, the church is fortunate indeed in securing his services. Rev. R. M. Howell, the retiring pastor, had won a place in the hearts and affections of his congregation, and many were loath to give him up. He goes to Alexander City, and the best wishes of his people here go with him and his splendid family, who offer the sincere hope that their lines may be cast in pleasant places.

T. A. Horton is a new addition to the mercantile interests of Hartselle. Mr. Horton comes from the eastern part of the county, and will operate a grocery and feed business at this point.

All day services will be conducted at New Center school, near here, today, the occasion being the dedication of the new modern school building, recently completed there. The county superintendent will be on hand and will make an address, and others interested in the school in that section will deliver addresses also. The school building is a modern three-room building, with all modern improvements throughout. A system of sanitation is being carried out under the auspices of the county board of health. Water in every room, sanitary toilets constructed under the supervision of Mr. Holley, of the county board. Prof. Hicks, of Albany, is the principal of the school, and he has surrounded himself with two competent assistants. The school has a great future before it, and the citizens of that section are to be congratulated upon the addition of this splendid building, which takes the place of one which had grown obsolete.

Great interest is being taken in the coming of the Athens Masonic Minstrels, who will give a show at the grammar school here next Thursday evening. The minstrels have a 20-piece brass band, and is composed of some of the best talent of that sister city. A street parade will be a feature. The show is under the auspices of the Parent Teachers' Association, and this alone will insure a full house.

TRINITY WINS.

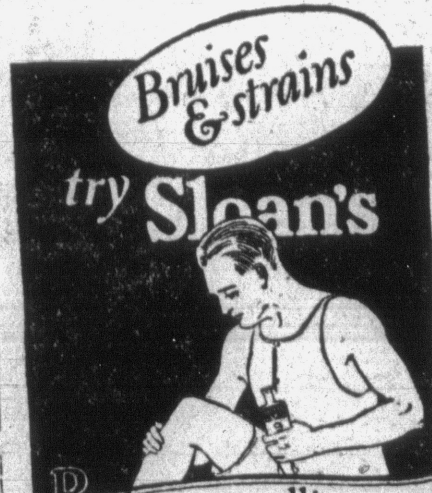

TRINITY, Ala., Nov. 20.—The local girls' basketball team of the high school here met the fast Colbert County High School team on their own court at Leighton Saturday afternoon.

The score resulted: 19 to 10 in favor of Trinity.

The local team has a reputation covering seven years, which is much more than local in extent, inasmuch as they have only been defeated three times since the organization of the team. They played nearly all the schools in this section of Alabama. Several games are yet contemplated for this season.
